GIVING THE PEOPLE A CHANCE

Glory be—the President has gone out from Washington to hold counsel with the people. He will tell them all about the plans made at Versailles to establish permanent peace for the world through the League of Nations, and he will seek to direct a demand from "the people," which if successful, will be speedily obeyed in Washington in the ratification of the peace treaty. And then, again, he will seek to allay the unrest among "the people," that has arisen from the high cost of living—and other causes.

"OTHER CAUSES"

"Other causes"—aside from the high cost of living, that has created so much unrest throughout the country, remind one that:

"The earth was made so various, that the mind Of desultory man, studious of change And pleased with novelty, might be indulged."

Lieutenant Colonel Samuel T. Ansell, the "able and fearless champion of the soldiers," says that "the spirit of our soldiers is sore; it is aware that it has been subjected to a system ill-adapted to the citizen-soldier and his development, that it has been subjected to a system which is not in consonance with our traditions and sentiments, which belongs to an age and a system of government with which we insist upon having no other connection." A brave pioneer in formulating this idea is Hugh Jeffries, who served "over there," and came back with sergeant's chevrons, and a determination to change some of the "Roman customs" that prevail in the management of armies. He is president of the American Military Reform Association, with headquarters in Washington, and with the "American Soldier" as the organ to put the case of the American before the people. His voice and pen are enlisted for "justice in the army established under laws enacted by the people."

These able champions of reforms in the court martial and the disciplinary systems in the army, declare that "the American soldier is proud, and justly so," but "not proud of the system of discipline to which for a moment it became subjected; it was not exalted by its experience; it was not satisfied with a treatment which was regarded as unnecessary as it was harsh and unhelpful."

These spokesmen of the soldiers speak an abundance of truth when they assert that "the spirit of solidarity is sore." This has been evidenced in many ways, and the fact that three-fourths of the soldiers' insurance policies have been allowed to lapse, is one of the indications. So all should rejoice that President Wilson has gone out "to the huts," leaving the politicians to quarrel with the landlords and other profiteers in the Capital, while he unscrews the cap of the radiator in order that the steam of discontent may be aided to escape.

CLIQUE AND CLASSES

"Reconstruction" will have to proceed until "Democracy" is rediscovered, and that time will come when the United States returns to a system of rule by the majority of the whole people. Russia swept aside the autocrats and the landed aristocracy—and then the groping masses groped out of the fog of war into the fire by setting up a new class dictatorship composed of workmen headed by professional agitators. In our own United States we have been approaching this same method, in the case of the cliques got under the heel of the miscreants who are over the Federal Administration; and out of the fog of war there has peered the shadow of packers, coal barons and sugar refiners. Organized propaganda has set out to defeat the courts and the law of the land in order that a bad cause, doubtless properly jailed for knowing bombs in San Francisco, might escape. Of this same type of Bolshevism who demand supremacy for the great classes of people, there has been a I. W. W. and the revolutionists who were defeated when Ole Hanson issued a famous proclamation headed: "United States of America, City of Seattle."

So far the classes and the cliques have won no substantial victories, but they are very much on the job in this fall of 1919. And the Seattle story shows that the good old ship of State may be depended to sail a true course despite disturbing gales and squalls. All of which disquisition leads up to the point of the story, that classes and

FRARY-RICH

There was a very charming wedding in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. H. Frary at 5 p. m., Wednesday, September 3, when their only daughter, Evelyn Newton, was united in marriage to Harold E. Rich of Bethel, Me. Miss Eleanor Frary of Berlin, N. Y., a cousin of the bride, was bridesmaid and Thomas Earl of Bethlehem, Pa., a college classmate of the groom, was best man.

The bride wore a very becoming gown of white satin and georgette crepe, with head trimmings, a bridal veil and she carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid wore a gown of light blue tulle and carried pink roses. The bride and groom, preceded by the bridesmaid and best man, entered the living room to the strains of Lohengrin's wedding march played by Mrs. Walter Ford, and stood in the bay window. Rev. E. M. Frary of Bethel performed the ceremony, the double ring service being used.

After congratulations, Miss Dorothy Whitte, a cousin of the bride, who has been studying in New York for grand opera, sang. The groom's gift to the bride was a bar pin of sapphires and pearls, and to his best man a scarf pin. The bride's gift to her bridesmaid was a sapphire pin.

The bride graduated from the local high school, attended Middlebury college two years and Mt. Holyoke one year.

The groom is a graduate of Williams College and of Plattsburg Military College, where he received the commission of 2nd Lieutenant and was stationed at Camp Devens during the war and was promoted to the rank of captain.

Guests were present from Worcester, New York, Walpole, N. H., Holyoke, Northfield, Williamstown and Bethel, Me.

The decorations were asters and gladioli, the effect being very pretty.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including silver, cut glass, pictures, checks and stocks amounting to $1,000.

Mr. and Mrs. Rich left on the evening train for Chaffee, N. Dakota, where they will make their home. Mr. Rich is to be principal of the high school there. The Greenfield Gazette and Courier.

DE RUE BROS. MINSTRELS

COMING

The DeRue Bros. Ideal Minstrels come to you this season not as strangers, but as a guaranteed attraction from the excellent performance given by them in previous seasons. The company this season is enlarged, both in number and in paraphernalia, carrying scenery for every act produced. It is said that a prettier stage picture has never been seen than that of the Grand Seaside First Part entitled "The Hunchback."

The DeRue Bros. Ideal Minstrels, which are to appear at Odson Hall, Tuesday, Sept. 23, shall always, as in seasons previous, present a performance that is clean and classic and honest, with fair treatment to the public, and truly advertised. This year they present an entire change of performance, with all new vaudeville features. Don't fail to see the great Street Parade and to hear the Hot Band Concerts on day of show. Tickets now on sale at Bowser's Drug Store.

Note—DeRue Bros. this season have 22 people and guarantee the best performance ever given here.—Adv.

Worthy Master called a special meeting for Tuesday night, Sept. 23, to confer the first and second degree.

The Worthy Lecturer announced that the first meeting after the fall, which will be Oct. 11, would be ladies night, and the following committee was appointed: Ida Wight, Sarah Stearns, Alida Saunders, Etta Brinck, Mrs. Hob Enman.

Remarks by Sister Raymond of Oquossoc Grange.

Grange closed in form, after which all retired to Bro. Hastings' lawn where a good feed of corn was all in readiness for a corn roast, having been prepared by Bro. Nam earlier in the evening. All gathered round the fire and roasted corn, and enjoyed a social half hour.

G. A. NOTES

The Y. W. G. A. meeting this week was led by Miss Ruth Kendall; pianist, Vivian Wight.

William Hall, '19, visited the Academy Wednesday forenoon. He will return to Bowdoin College next week for his sophomore year.

Miss Elsie Enman of Newry became a member of the Holden Hall family this week. Every room in the girls' department is now occupied.

On Thursday evening of the present week a reception will be given in the "Gym" in honor of the freshmen class and to the new members of the faculty.

New registrations at the Academy this week are Adelaide Ramsell, Bethel; Edwin M. Brown, Upton; Elsie Enman, Newry; thus increasing the attendance to ninety-eight.

WEST BETHEL GRANGE FAIR
The West Bethel Grange Fair will be held at West Bethel, Wednesday, Sept. 21, promises to be one of the best.

The West Bethel fair in the forenoon between West Paris and Andover is sure to draw a good crowd.

In the afternoon will be horse pulling with some keen competition.
An added attraction for the afternoon will be a public demonstration in canning, both in glass and tin by four young ladies, beginning at 2 o'clock.

OXFORD COUNTY AGRICULTURAL FAIR

The Oxford County Agricultural Fair played in hard luck this year as the weather man would not give them a good day until Saturday.

After a postponement of two days the gates were opened on Thursday. There were some pulling contests but no ball game or horse racing until Saturday.

That it would have been one of the best fairs in the history of the Association could not have been doubted when you saw the exhibits in all the different departments. But then a fair is not a fair unless the people are there.

At the annual meeting held on Saturday afternoon it was estimated that the deficit would be about five thousand dollars for this year. The following officers were elected: President William J. Wheeler said to the members that he felt he had been president of the society as long as he should, and expressed a desire to see Leslie E. McIntire elected president. The desire seemed to be general, as a motion was promptly made that the secretary cast the vote of the society for Mr. McIntire, and this was unanimously carried.

E. W. Penley was elected vice-president to take the place thus vacated by Mr. McIntire, and Trustees T. P. Richardson and W. H. Kilgore were elected trustees to succeed themselves, and William O. Frothingham secretary and treasurer to succeed himself. Arthur G. Hayes of Oxford was elected a trustee to succeed E. W. Penley.

Among the exhibitors J. H. Carter of Bethel was there with some of his Durhams and every one of them had a ribbon on and most of them first.

In drawing horses John Westleigh of Bethel won in the class for horses 3,000 lbs. and under, and also the sweepstakes.

That the boys and girls of Oxford County are being well trained in gardening and home economics is apparent from the fine display made by the clubs connected with the University of Maine extension service.

Miss Catherine N. Platts, State home demonstrator, who is in general charge of the exhibit, with County Agent George A. Yeaton, says the display of canned fruits, vegetables, jellies and jams is one of the very best she has ever seen. "They are all of excellent quality," said she, "and can honestly all be rated as an A-1 product. I am proud of the Oxford County Canning Club and its work."

There are in this exhibit, tastefully arranged in the front section of the big exhibition hall, 350 glass jars of goods canned by 35 members of clubs. One boy, John H. Sweet of Andover, has captured the third prize. The awarding of premiums took place Wednesday, as follows:

First—Grace Van, Bethel.
Second—Gladys Barker, Norway.
Third—John H. Sweet, Andover.

Fourth—Elizabeth Bartlett, Andover.
Fifth—Marjorie Farwell, Bethel.
Sixth—Mildred Melanls, West Bethel.
Seventh—Doris Ordway, Bethel; Ada A. McAllister, South Paris.

Eight—Margaret Learned, Andover; Sadie E. Clark, South Paris.
Ninth—Katherine Tyler, Bethel; Doris Kilgore, Norway Lake; Hilda Russell, Norway Lake.

Tenth—Ida Lapham, Norway; Doris Ripley, Andover; Lydia A. Sweet, So. Paris; Myrtle Beckler, Bethel.
Eleventh—Dorothy V. Grover, Marion Killings, Margaret O. Hancock, Bethel; Marjorie Edwards, South Paris.

The winners of the club sweet corn premiums are:
Charles Colby, South Paris, first;
George Colby South Paris second; Chester Ham Norway third; Norman Knightly Norway, fourth; Alton Thurston, Norway, fifth; Fred G. Noble, Norway, sixth.

The numerous entries in this contest and the judges must have found it a difficult chore to pick the winners, for it is by far the best lot of sweet corn the boys of the globe in this prolific corn-producing county have ever exhibited.

This is the demonstration that was to be given at the County Fair but was given up on account of the weather. All the local boys' and girls' Club contest will be held and Miss Alfreda Ellis of Orono, Assistant State Club Leader, in charge of Girls' Clubs will be the Judge.

Then there is to be dancing both afternoon and evening.
Dinners and suppers will be served as usual.

ENTERTAINMENT
In Grange Hall Under the Auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E.

Tuesday evening, Sept. 23, Miss Grace Sage of Boston, a reader and interpreter of plays, who has proved herself to be an artist of ability, will give a recital in Grange Hall under the auspices of the Y. P. S. C. E., in which she will impersonate Joan Webster's "Daddy Long Legs."

She comes with highest recommendations wherever she has appeared.
Dr. Cadman, pastor of Central church in Brooklyn, N. Y., says, "Miss Sage appeared before a large audience and gave a splendid artistic reading in which her dramatic power was shown with fine reserve and balance, which pleased all present."

When she appeared in Schenectady, N. Y., the Press said in appreciation of her talent: "Dainty and beautifully and yet with strength and power Miss Grace Sage proves herself to be an artist of rare talent and exceptional training. She has a beautiful voice. Youth, beauty and unconscious grace that comes from a perfect technique."

When she appeared before the student body and a select audience of visitors as an entertainer under the auspices of the Philomathean Fraternity of Pennington Seminary at their fifty-first anniversary Frank MacDaniels paid her the following tribute: "We have had many entertainers and lecturers and also impersonators visit our school during the year but I do not think I overstate the verdict of this critical audience when I say Miss Sage had the most gifted and winning powers of impersonation of any who have appeared on our platform."

Music by local talent. Tickets 50c, 35c, 25c. Entertainment at 8 o'clock.

EVERYDAY RULES FOR HEALTH

Points on How to Live Long and Live Well by a Los Angeles Physician

No one ever grows old. You may become old, but it will not be until you cease to grow, writes Edward B. Warner, A. M. To be eternally youthful one must be eternally finding the new. The soul of man does not age with years. When, day after day, you say to yourself—or to others: "Well, I'm growing old," you are then sowing age-producing seeds in the subjective mind. In consequence of this you will surely reap old-age conditions. Therefore, avoid that word "older." Instead of saying: "The old I grow," say: "The longer I live." You will live longer if you do.

If you wish to reach the goal and be an example for others to emulate, you should drive from your heart all envy, all hatred, all jealousy; and in their place substitute love, charity, forgiveness. Hatred takes time and energy and health, and the dividends on the investment are pitifully small and unsatisfactory. Condemnatory thoughts poison and devitalize. Commendatory thoughts purify and vitalize. Don't worry. Worry and faith are not good bed-fellows. These are some of the mental requirements; let us look at a few of the physical ones.

First—Correct position of the body when standing and sitting, and correct carriage of the body when walking. Keep an active chest—raised and fixed independently of the breathing. Keep the back of your neck against your collar. Do not let your breastbone get too near your backbone. A straight spine—a long life.

Second—Exercise daily. Work is not exercise, but exercise is work. You may work every day and yet be as stiff as a poker; but if you supplement your work with exercise you will retain your suppleness as long as you live—and you will live longer. All physical exercise to be effective should be pleasurable. A man's health is not much benefited by walking the floor all night with the baby.

Third—Eat to live; not live to eat. Two meals a day should suffice—preferably, a light, easily digested breakfast; no luncheon, but a hearty 6 o'clock dinner. Learn to taste your food with your mind. Be cheerful at your meals; a sour countenance will give you a sour stomach. If you have a grouchy leave it outdoors when you go to your meals. Eat nothing that you eat. If you fear it, do not eat it; if you eat it, do not fear it. Chew every mouthful thoroughly, but not excessively. This applies especially to starches in order to coat them completely with saliva—the alkaline medium. Never begin a meal with fruit; it should be last. Do not run your stomach for an hour simply by looking your plate for a minute. Sit good by to your food and forget it.

Fourth—Bathes—some kind of a bath not fewer than 365 times a year. But the bath to the needs of the body rather than to the whims of the mind. You may bathe but once a week and still be a Christian; you may—but you can't do it and be a clean Christian.

Fifth—Drink a plentiful supply of water. Never mind about the bugs. Boiling only kills them, but does not remove them. I prefer mine in their natural state. During the 11 years I have been here I have drunk the water just as it came from the faucet. If you have passed middle age—or have "the rheumatiz," I would advise the drinking of distilled water. It will postpone the period of senile decay 15 to 20 years, preventing, in a measure, the hardening of the arteries. Not having yet reached middle age (being only 67 years young) and being a total stranger to the "rheumatiz," I have not yet begun on the distilled water. Drink coffee? Yes, if you take it black and sufficiently strong—not weak. Yes, it's a stimulant, but it is non-reactive. Don't let them fool you by the "jaded horse" story. It's a nerve restorer, not a nerve destroyer. It's not a poison when properly made (percolated). Should it not agree with you, don't drink it. The fault, however, is not with the coffee, but with you. In all things, cast out fear—it is the only devil that exists. Fear nothing, and you will soon have nothing to fear.

Sixth—Instead of taking breathing exercises (so called) take such exercises as compel deep breathing—fast walking, hill climbing, stair climbing, etc. (keeping the mouth shut). This is a better blood purifier than ever came out of a bottle.

Seventh—Discard woolen underwear. It is not compatible with cleanliness. Cotton is better, hygienically, than wool. Meshed linen is the ideal underwear. Let no one pull the wool over your eyes.

Eighth—Sleep—as much as you need—if you can get it. The average requirement is eight hours. Two hours before midnight—for recuperation—is worth four hours afterward. Vitality is lowest about 2 a. m. "Old folks" should go to bed with the chickens. Don't go to bed with cold feet; sleep begins at the extremities. When you retire, let go mentally and physically. Relax. Imagine you weigh a ton. Don't try to hold the bed up—let it hold you up. Put all your cares upon the chair with your clothing. Shut your peepers. Shut your mouth. Lock up your think box, and put the key under your pillow. Lie on your liver—well over to the right—and you will not snore. Be at peace with God and the world. "Let not the sun go down on your wrath."

The Four Chimneys—Keep them in good working condition—the four eliminating agents, the lungs, kidneys, bowels, skin. Health and long life depend upon normal, natural activity. "Trust in God and keep your bowels open," said Lyman Beecher. "A man with a bad liver can't be a good Christian," said Henry Ward Beecher.

If you do all these things, how long will you live? As long as you desire; and you should desire to live as long as you are useful, and you should be useful until long after you shall have passed the hundred-mile post. As for myself, I think I have a lease on life for 140 years and then some—with the privilege of renewing the lease if I desire. I think I shall desire. This will put me in the list of the last of the veterans. Who knows, I may be the last, with not a "comrade" left to sound "taps."

ONE WOMAN'S SOLUTION OF THE SERVANT PROBLEM

One woman who has apparently found the correct solution of the servant problem was talking to her friends one day of her success, which she described in the following words:

"I could afford to keep only one maid, and we had seven children. Of course, the first question a maid asks is, 'How many have you in the family.' After telling how many, I would always add, 'I do the work a second girl is supposed to do.' In nearly 40 years of housekeeping, I can honestly say, barring two or three whom I discharged for proven dishonesty, no girl ever lived with me who was not sorry circumstances caused her to leave."

"First, I gave them always a clean, cheery, comfortable room.

"Second, I personally planned and watched my work, so there was, excepting Mondays, at least one hour the girls could have to themselves.

"Third, I insisted no maid should pick up after my children. I have called a child after it had gone to bed to put away either a coat or its school books.

"Fourth, I insisted on each child, as it grew old enough, to perform some one daily duty.

"I paid 10 cents per week to each child, the money to be used for recess money, but insisted on it not buying highly colored candies or prize packages. One child's duty was to always look after the cutting and serving of the bread. By the way, I always made the bread for two reasons: First, the bread was always uniform; second, it gave me an excuse to be in the kitchen more, and I could prevent waste of time as well as waste of food.

"A second child always looked to see that the water was fresh and that the salt cellars were filled. A third kept the loose papers picked up in the yard, etc.

"One greatest bugbear was the enormous washings. The way I managed that was, Monday was always the regular wash day, but every Thursday I washed out all the baby's fine clothes, all fine handkerchiefs and whatever table napkins and handkerchiefs were soiled by that time—that helped cut down the Monday wash. I insisted on my help doing little to my children. I compelled my children to be polite to the help.

NOW RAISES 600 CHICKENS

After Being Relieved of Organic Trouble by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Oregon, Ill.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for an organic trouble which pulled me down until I could not put my foot to the floor and could scarcely do my work, and as I live on a small farm and raise six hundred chickens every year it made it very hard for me."

"I saw the Compound advertised in our paper, and tried it. It has restored my health so I can do all my work and I am so grateful that I am recommending it to my friends."

Mrs. D. M. ALTERS, R. R. 4, Oregon, Ill.

Only women who have suffered the tortures of such troubles and have dragged along from day to day can realize the relief which this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, brought to Mrs. Alters.

Women everywhere in Mrs. Alters' condition should profit by her recommendation, and if there are any complaints write Lydia E. Pinkham's Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass., for advice. The result of their 40 years experience is at your service.

NATIONAL CAPITAL.

cliques must give way in the period of "reconstruction" to healthy Americanism, which should be fostered by the action of the President in carrying straight to the people that war being over it is again up to them to rule through their majority.

CAPITAL AND LABOR CONTROVERSY

An industrial conference composed of leading representatives of labor, capital and agricultural interests, will convene for a week's session beginning October 3, in an attempt to work out a solution of the present economic crisis. President Wilson will likely preside. All sorts of prophecies as to what will result from the conference are rife in Washington. Mr. Campers is scheduled to lead labor in the conference. Just what may result from constantly according to Mr. Campers is questionable. From the first appearance of the first cloud in the distance down to the present day this country has been in a state of "higher wages" and "reconstruction of the nation"—and practically nothing else.

If that is the genuine pathway to a reduction in the cost of living the experience of the past two years have not given any indication to that effect.

It was in that Theodore N. Vail, who is acknowledged as one of the world's greatest business men, may represent capital in the conference. Mr. Vail in a recent interview to the Associated Press, says that "the present cost, the determining factor, in the amount of production per unit of labor or effort." He adds that "it is far more important to get labor interested so that it will put forth intelligent, enthusiastic effort than it is to get labor to accept lower pay."

In this connection it is interesting to note that Lloyd George has found that the only "rebuilding up" in production in England has been by the farmers. Doubtless the same thing is true in our own country, for the food producers are the only ones who have been working from day up to the day, and they in the industrial centers.

It is all quite different, since the chief interest seems to be in "shorter hours and more pay." Notwithstanding that there is work for all, the writer counted fifty-four able-bodied men watching a truck driver unloading an actress's baggage at the rear entrance to a big New York hotel in the week before Labor Day.

PRODUCTION WAITS

Production waits, and yet the number of railroad employees has increased 140,000 under government control, while the volume of business is about the same as it was before the war. The daily average coal production in 236,000 tons at the present time, while it was 332,000 tons a year ago, and even then production was below normal. The computed cost of lumber in 1918 is 11 per cent smaller than the computed production in 1917. America's shelves are bare of goods, and even though the consumption of merchandise in the United States today is greater than ever before, the highly organized classes of the country await their lot, since they claim that they have "nothing to do but work, nothing to eat but food, nothing to wear but clothes."

In these days when we are "taking stock" of ourselves and our affairs the balance sheets agree with the statement of Mr. Vanderbilt, the great banker, who says of our country that "we are the darling of the gods." In recognition of this fact a long pull, and a strong pull, and a pull all together, will lead Democracy squarely on her feet once more.

A BEAUTY BATH FOR BIDDY

All white fowls must be washed, and most fowls of other colors can be improved in appearance by washing, bathing, and grooming before the show. For white birds have three tubs, one filled with warm, soft or rain water, another with warm, soft or rain water, and the third with warm, soft or rain water colored in the proper shade of lime and blue white goods. Use a bar of good white or castile soap, a large sponge, and a nail brush. Have the temperature of the room 60° or 65°, and bring the birds in clean exhibition coats, the floors of which should be covered with fresh, dry shavings. Wash the males first. Clean the beaks and feet with the nail brush, soap and water. Insert the bird in the first tub and push it down under the water several times until the plumage is wet through; make a heavy lather with the sponge and soap, and the roughly wash the plumage with the sponge; open the wings and sponge them in the direction of the feathers. Always wash the length of the feathers, from the quill to the tip and not across it.

Keep the bird's head out of the water if possible; sponge the soap off the bird and remove to the second tub. Press it under the water several times, allow it to stand and drip for a few seconds, and then dip it twice in the tub containing the bluing water. Remove the bird from the water, hold its legs firmly and raise it up and down quickly, so that it will flap and expand its wings and tail and shake out the water.

Do not use a towel to dry a white bird. Move the exhibition coop near the fire or some heat so that the bird will dry. Lifting up the plumage of the breast and opening the feathers of the neck while drying has a tendency to increase the apparent size of these sections. It is necessary to examine the white birds frequently if the coops are near a stove to guard against overheating them or scorching or burning their feathers.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness it Would Bring to Bethel Homes

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Brings you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that Backache pains often come from weak kidneys.

Would save much needless worry. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Read what a Bethel citizen says: Mrs. Julia Coburn, Mechanic St., says: "I had backache and a dull, heavy ache through the small of my back came on by spells. My sight of Dean's Kidney Pills proved fine for me."

I soon had relief from the backaches and felt much better in every way. I always keep Doan's on hand, getting them from Roseman's Drug Store, and use them as needed. They always bring good results."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Coburn had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Father Oramillon officiated at the marriage of Hyacinthe Cote of Mexico and Miss Della Theriault of Rumford which occurred last week at the church of Saint Jean de Baptiste.

The Mexico school board held a reception for the teachers on last Friday evening in the vestry of the Congregational church. This proved to be a most pleasant and successful affair. A splendid program was given and a social hour followed.

Harold Lurvey landed in New York City, recently, after having been in the service in France for two years. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Currie, went to New York to meet him.

The Oxford Paper Company mill is running Sunday this month as this extra time and labor is needed to fill their large orders.

A surprise party was given at Saint Barnabas rectory on Friday evening in honor of Rev. Franklin Joiner, who left Rumford, Tuesday, to return to his regular parish work at Saint Clement's church, Philadelphia, Pa.

Miss Yvette Gonyea is assistant teacher of French at the Stephens High school. Miss Gonyea, who graduated from the local high school, has taught here one year.

J. A. Garneau is in Worcester, Mass., on business.

Walter Stearns, who has been employed in Lovell for the summer, will return to Bowdoin College this fall. Mr. Stearns was graduated from Stephens High school in 1918.

Mrs. Lizzie Rose is visiting relatives in Livermore.

Mrs. Milbury Crafts and grandchild, Charles and Quentin Whittier, of Lisbon Falls are visiting relatives in town.

Miss Mary S. Cummings of South Paris, who planned to teach here this year, has resigned to accept a position in the Norway schools.

Miss Yvonne Cyr and Miss Evangeline Roderick left recently for Waterville, where they are attending Saint Joseph Academy. They were accompanied by their parents, Mr. Wm. F. Cyr and Mrs. H. J. Roderick, who also stopped in Skowhegan and Lewiston.

While in Skowhegan they had sometime with their sister, Mother Superior Angelo, who teaches vocal and instrumental music in the Waterville convent school.

DOBBIN WEARIN' O' THE GREEN

Dobbin, in his lifetime, may have worn black or white or tan, or even red, but when he passes over the most black and presents himself to the housewife in the form of steak or roast or anything like that, he will be decked in green.

The meat-inspection service of the United States Department of Agriculture, in order to comply with the provision of the law that horse meat shall be conspicuously marked, has decided to stamp the meat with a harmless green ink. The Bureau of Animal Industry stamp is distinctively six-sided and bears the words "Horse Meat."

Horse meat is likely to be on the market in appreciable quantities shortly. A report has been received at the Department of Agriculture from Billings, Mont., that the initial shipment of a lot of about 2,000 range horses has been received for slaughter. A report from New Mexico says that 30,000 range horses in that State should be slaughtered.

An agricultural journal, recently commenting on the slaughter of horses for meat, said that the elimination of undesirable horses not only will save food for more worthy cattle and sheep, but will add hides to the leather supply and increase meat stocks. Department of Agriculture experts say that hides from range horses that have lived in the open should be of excellent quality.

WEST PARIS

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Ricker of Bristol, N. H., are guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ricker.

Maj. Webber of Auburn gave a very interesting address at the Baptist church, Sunday evening, on his experiences in the war. Allice Bardon sang a solo, also Arthur Welcome of Waltham, Mass.

Major and Mrs. Webber and his brother, Dr. W. E. Webber and wife of Lewiston were guests Sunday of Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Wheeler.

Mrs. Jennie Curtis of Massachusetts and Frank Curtis, wife, daughter and two children of Vermont have been guests of Mrs. Mary Stevens.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. Cummings of Dorchester, Mass., have been guests of her brother, D. H. Field.

A new schedule of fees has been adopted by the local physicians, Dr. F. H. Packard and Dr. P. E. Wheeler, in accordance with those of other physicians in Oxford County and the State, which went into effect Sept. 1. The increase of the fees being necessary, on account of the high prices of medicines and the high cost of living. Doubtless the higher rates will be anticipated by the people like everything else which is still going higher in price.

Rev. H. A. Markley has been selected as County chairman of the Interchurch World Movement, aural survey which is already at work all of his available time in the rural districts. Mr. Markley is to preach the occasional sermon at the Universalist State Convention in Augusta, Sept. 24. In October he will deliver the ordination sermon of his daughter, Miss Lucy Markley, of Stockton, Illinois, and also attend the general convention of Universalists at Baltimore. One of the very pleasant and helpful features of his trip to Baltimore was the recent gift of a check from one of the officers of his church, Dr. F. E. Wheeler, of a sum sufficient to cover the expense of the trip. Not only is the giver and the recipient very happy but the people also at the expression of esteem for their pastor.

CORN BORER AS A REAL PERIL

The European corn borer undoubtedly is a serious menace to American agriculture. The United States Department of Agriculture has for some time called attention to the extreme danger from this pest, which has become well established in both Massachusetts and New York. Now comes this reinforcement of that judgment:

"We, the National Association of Commissioners of Agriculture, with official entomologists from many States and representatives of the United States Department of Agriculture, together with representatives of the Canadian Government, present as experts in conference upon the situation, existing here, as thoroughly convinced that this pest is one of the most dangerous insects which has become established in America, and we hereby place ourselves on record in favor of most energetic efforts on the part of Federal and State agencies to control and, if possible, to exterminate this insect, including in the program vigorous quarantines to prevent its distribution."

That is a part of the resolutions adopted by the European corn-borer conference, begun at Albany, N. Y., on August 28 and concluded at Boston, Mass., on August 29. The State commissioners of agriculture, State entomologists and others went over the corn fields around Schenectady, N. Y., and Boston, Mass., and saw the methods of destruction practiced by the United States Department of Agriculture and the State agencies, together with the damage caused by the borer.

The commissioners of agriculture returned to their States convinced of the reality of the peril and of the necessity of unifying all efforts to protect the farmers of the country from a destructive insect that may quickly spread over very large areas unless most energetic control work is done on a large scale.

PARAFFIN PROTECTS SILO INTERIORS

An experienced stockman reported to the United States Department of Agriculture that five years ago he coated the interior of his concrete silo with paraffin and that this material has effectively protected the silo ever since, with indications that the protective covering will be good for several years more. This stockman used 40 pounds of melted paraffin in painting the interior of his 110-ton silo. The paraffin was applied hot with a large paint brush. Care should be taken to avoid splashing since hot paraffin causes severe burns on bare flesh.

This man eliminated the need for scaffolding or ladders by applying the paraffin as the silo was filled, painting a strip as high as he could reach all around the silo and then waiting until the silo had filled up sufficiently so a strip of corresponding size could be applied higher up. He reports that on thorough examination during subsequent years the only noticeable damage to the paraffin protection occurred where the lines of a pitchfork had scratched the surface. Otherwise, the covering remained practically intact. A protective coating is particularly desirable for use in silos made of concrete, concrete blocks or similar building material of a semiporous character likely to be attacked by silage juices. The smooth paraffin coating also is believed to permit the silage to settle easily and uniformly, thus avoiding air pockets. Painting the interior of the wooden silo with a mixture of coal tar and creosote protects the building against decay and increases its working life several years where the application is repeated every year. The material costs about 20 cents a gallon and approximately 3 or 4 gallons are sufficient for a 100-ton silo.

THE BONE'S MEMORY

One of the scientists declares that plants have memories.

I wonder if each rose that lies Between dim, long-forgotten pages Has memories of dreamy eyes That mirrored love in other ages?

I wonder if each petal pressed Against a bosom wildly heaving Can hear the hopes that are confessed, And listen, joyously believing?

Can you long treasured recollections The gay night when a maiden kissed it?

And, having shyly let it fall, Pretended that she never missed it? How clearly I behold the scene, Which pleasing fancy spreads before me!

The stories that since have broken o'er me.

I wonder if this faded rose Remembers how we danced together, And whispered—ah, I love it! I know We did not talk about the weather. Perhaps—perhaps, if it were blessed With speech it might, e'en now, be able To tell me if 'twas once possessed By Gladys, Jean, or Maud or Mabel. Chicago Record-Herald.

WEATHER REPORTS ON HIGHWAYS

The highway weather service, one of the new enterprises of the United States Department of Agriculture, operated through the organization of the Weather Bureau, is proving of benefit to automobile owners where it has been tried. The meteorologist in charge of the Weather Bureau office in Kansas City, Mo., recently reported:

POEMS WORTH READING

THERE IS NO DEATH
There is no death! The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore;
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forever more.

There is no death! The dust we tread
Shall change beneath the summer
showers,
To golden grain or mellowed fruit,
Or rainbow-tinted flowers.

The granite rocks disorganize,
And feed the hungry moss they bear;
The forest leaves drink daily life,
From out the vernal air.

There is no death! The leaves may fall,
And flowers may fade and pass away;
They only wait, through wintry hours,
The coming of the May.

There is no death! An angel form
Walks 'er the earth with silent tread;
He leaves our best loved things away,
And we then call them "dead."

He leaves our hearts all desolate,
He plucks our fairest, sweetest flower;
Transplanted into bliss, they now
Adorn immortal towers.

The bird-like voice, whose joyous tones,
Made glad these scenes of sin and strife,
Sings now an everlasting song,
Around the tree of life.

Where'er he sees a smile too bright,
Or heart too pure for pain and vice,
He bears it to that world of light,
To dwell in Paradise.

Born into that undying life,
They leave us but to come again;
With joy we welcome them the same—
Except their sin and pain.

And ever near us, though unseen,
The dear immortal spirits tread;
For all the boundless universe
Is life—there are no dead.

Lord Lytton.

THE BABIES ARE ALL GROWN
The baby is empty now,
For the babies are all grown,
And the mother's face wears a mournful frown.

As she sits at her work alone
And thinks of the days, so long gone
by,
When the house was full of noise,
And echoed and rang, from morn till night,

With the chatter of girls and boys,
They were all so merry and cheerful,
These children of long ago,
That the house seems strangely silent
Now none of them come and go.

And there's never a sound of laughter
Nor a patter of lightest feet,
Nor a rock of the little cradle
To be heard in the household neat.

It was not always tidy,
Sometimes 'twas a "sight to see";
In days when the shabby cradle
Was as busy as it could be.

Yet the weary, toll worn mother,
Who never had time to rest,
Finds now, with a mournful heart throbs,
That these baby days were the best.

THE LITTLE THINGS
A good by kiss is a little thing,
With your hand on the door to go,
But it takes the vapor out of the sting
Of a thoughtless word or a cruel sting
That you made an hour ago.

A kiss of greeting is sweet and rare
After the toll of the day,
And it smooths the furrows ploughed
by care,
The lines on the forehead you once called fair.

In the years that flown away,
'Tis a little thing to say "you are kind,"
But it sends a thrill through the heart
if said;
For love is tender, as love is blind,
As we think life's rugged height.

We share each other for love's career,
We take but we do not give;
It seems so easy some cool to bless,
But we take the love greedily,
Till 'tis bitter and hard to live.

AMERICA BIRTH YOU

west,
Our children here are born,
Who fought their fight and gave their

Theirs was the battle that won,
Theirs was the victory that

Theirs was the glory that won.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story

SOUTH PARIS

ROSLINDALE W. RECOMMENDS
This is a recommendation of Roslindale W. to the people of South Paris.

Mrs. Albert W. of Roslindale, Mass., writes: "I am taking your medicine (Dr. True's Elixir) I was troubled with what I thought stomach trouble, I had that terrible gnawing in my stomach nearly all the time. Within half an hour after taking a hearty meal,
I would have that same disagreeable feeling. I was losing weight every day. After taking your medicine (Dr.
True's Elixir), I was relieved of that terrible gnawing in my stomach, expelled worms, and I felt like a new person in many ways, and would heartily recommend it to any one suffering as I did."

Headaches, tired feeling, weakness, spots before the eyes, bad breath, sleeplessness, irritability, dizziness, constipation can be relieved, if you take the prescription known as Dr. True's Elixir.
The Family Laxative and Worm Ex-peller. It has done much for sick people, men, women and children, ever since 1851—over 68 years reputation.
AT ALL DEALERS.—Adv.

No bugle's blast proclaimed their quest
As eastward trains were rushed,
No flaming banners met the breeze
Our farewells all were hushed.

But many a prayer went with our men
"God guard you—strike the foe,
If die you must for Country's sake."
There's none shall say you "No."

Along sea-lanes where lurked the Hun
In monsters of the deep
Our Watch-Dog Navy's work was done
All honor may they reap.

And safely near the ports of France
Our FIRST and many more,
Have bowed the head and blessed the chance—
That glimpse of hill and shore.

From Somerville to Le Sedan,
Solomon, Cantigny too,
Saint Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne
We've watched your spirit true.

And many a Hun has rued the day
He faced your gleaming steel,
The Allied cause was driven through
And laughly monarchs kneel.

And now we hear the martial tramp
Of many thousand feet,
Returning heroes home at last
We pause with joy to greet.

We honor you, Oh, men of our
Emotion hails our breath—
The thought of comrades close to you,
Their voices stilled in death.

'Twas for our God—his righteous cause
You fought in fact and name,
And in our hearts we give you place—
Our Country's Hall of Fame.

WHAT IS LIFE?
(By Charles A. Humphreys)
When the tolls of day are ended,
And we pause from all its strife,
Looking o'er the way we've wended,
Comes the question—What is life?

And the answer comes so surely,
To the simple, trusting soul,
Life is thus for living purely,
Writing truth upon its scroll.

Time for strong and earnest labor,
Time for kindly word and deed,
Time for love to every neighbor,
Time to give to every need.

Bread to hungry mouths and famished,
Water clear to thirsting lips,
And to him whose hopes are vanished,
Who the dreary of sorrow sips.

Pity's tears, heart-burger filling,
Sympathy's sweet cup of balm,
Cheering faith, and service willing,
Stretching out the helpful palm.

Life is being self in duty,
Loving best its lowliness;
Life is finding self in beauty,
Following most its holiness.

Life is growing each day stronger
For its conflicts stern and rude;
Life is finding each day longer
For its larger stores of good.

Life is not the greedy grasping
Of the pleasures of a day,
But the firm and thankful clasping
Of the joys that ever stay.

Life in youth is aspiration
After high and noble aims;
Manhood's life is concentration
To the work that lesser claims.

Life for age is recollection,
Brightening still with hopes above;
Life for all is clear reflection
Of the Father's grace and love.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story
With our noblest faith and strength,
Work for God, and not for glory,
Make this earth a heaven at length.

Let us then all out life's story

BUREAU OF CROP ESTIMATES

Good Potato Crop in Aroostook
Maine Potatoes improved slightly, despite August drought in the central counties says V. A. Sanders, Field Agent, in his report recently. There has been some lack of rain and some fertilizer injury in Aroostook, but the county is living up to its long record of producing a good crop. Forecast for Maine is now 29,614,000 bushels compared with 19,966,000 last month and 22,400,000 last year. Forecast for the United States is now 349,000,000 compared with 337,120,000 last month and 400,100,000 last year. Late in August, blight, with considerable rot, spread over southern New England, but too late to do much damage.

New England Commercial Apple Crop
55% More Than in 1918
The forecast for New England commercial apples is now 1,363,000 barrels compared with 881,000 last year—a 55% increase; for the United States—
23,072,000 compared with 21,740,000 last year. Maine and Vermont show big gains and only Massachusetts runs below last year. In commercial orchards the fruit is normal in size, quality and color; and recent rains should benefit the crop. Farm orchard fruit is mostly below normal in size and quality; much of it is wormy and has considerable black rot and scab. Most reports show a heavy crop of Spys; but the other main varieties run light in some sections, the heavier elsewhere, no one of them being a heavy crop. The number of bearing trees is certainly less throughout New England than in 1918;
but with some big new orchards coming to bearing and more old orchards receiving better care the productive capacity may be about the same.

Good Cranberry Crop On Cape Cod
Plenty of cranberries for Thanksgiving, Christmas and other dinners are promised by the 430,000 barrels which Cape Cod offers compared with 193,000 last year.

Frequent rains, cloudy, muggy weather.

Plenty of Beans; Gardens Good

With unusual stocks of beans carried over and good crops this year there will be plenty of beans; and most garden crops are good.

Excellent Tobacco Crop in New England
The hail and wind storm of Aug. 24 did heavy damage in limited areas in Franklin and Hampshire counties,
Massachusetts, Fairfield and Litchfield counties, Connecticut; but in Massachusetts will have 16,830,000 lbs. compared with 15,000,000 last year and Connecticut, 42,500,000 compared with 37,500, 000. The crop is of the growth and quality; favorable curing weather thus far.

Big Hay Yields; Good Quality
Not much old hay was carried over;
but a heavy yield of hay has been harvested in excellent condition except in sections of southern New England where rain damaged it. Timothy, alfalfa and millet are good crops; pasture is good in Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut, but is short in Maine,
New Hampshire and Vermont, due to drought.

Average Crop of oats
The season was too dry and hot early for best oat growth, the late sown ones have grown better. Wheat, barley and buckwheat are good crops.

Excellent Corn Year; Good Crop
The hot days and nights of July and early August, with timely rains make this the best corn year for some time and the crop is well above the average —field, silage and sweet corn all having done well. Warmer, drier weather is needed to mature it.

Frequent rains, cloudy, muggy weather.

THE A B C OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

By DR. FRANK C.

1. What is the League of Nations?
A. A union of the strong nations formed at the peace conference of 1919.

2. What is its object?
A. First, to promote the world by agreeing not to go to war. Second, to deal with each other, not by secret treaties, but by open treaties. Third, to improve international law, to co-operate in all common concerns.

3. Does it presume to interfere in the domestic affairs of nations?
A. No more than any other union of nations. It claims no right to interfere in the domestic affairs of nations.

4. What will be done to those who break the peace?
A. It will be boycotted and penalized.

5. How else will the peace be maintained?
A. By voluntary, mutual disarmament; by military information, by arbitration, by protection of the territorial integrity of nations, by co-operation in all common concerns.

6. What else does the League of Nations do?
A. (1) Secure fair treatment for labor.
(2) Suppress the sale of arms.
(3) Control and prevent the sale of opium.
(4) Promote the work of the Red Cross, and
(5) establish international tribunals for the human race.

7. Who are to be members of the League?
A. The United States of America, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, Bulgaria, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, India, China, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Panama, Peru, Poland, Rumania, Serbia, Siam, and the following states which have agreed to accede to the covenant of the League: Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Switzerland, Venezuela.

8. What other nations may join?
A. Any self-governing State will agree to the rules of the League and accept its provisions.

9. What Agencies will the League have?
A. (1) An Assembly, composed of representatives of member Nations.
(2) A Council of Nine.
(3) A Secretary-General.
(4) A Mandatory Commission to look after colonies.
(5) A Permanent Commission of Inquiry into military questions.
(6) Various international tribunals; such as the Union, etc.

10. What is a Mandatory?
A. Some one nation designs the League to attend to the welfare of the Central Empires, or of territories taken from them. This is a "sacred trust," and in so attending to the wishes of the people of the area in question shall be the duty of the Mandatory.

11. Does the League mean a new world order?
A. No. It interferes in no way with the sovereignty of nations. It is a power to attack other nations.

12. Can any Nation withdraw from the League?
A. Yes. The League is not a permanent one.

13. Does the League put Peace on a permanent basis?
A. No. It puts Peace on a permanent basis.

14. Does the League take the place of the League of Nations?
A. No. The League of Nations is a different organization.

15. Does the League mean a new world order?
A. No. It interferes in no way with the sovereignty of nations. It is a power to attack other nations.

16. Can any Nation withdraw from the League?
A. Yes. The League is not a permanent one.

17. Does the League put Peace on a permanent basis?
A. No. It puts Peace on a permanent basis.

THE A B C OF THE LEAGUE OF NATIONS

By DR. FRANK CRANE.

1. What is the League of Nations?
A. A union of the strongest civilized nations formed at the conclusion of the great war.
2. What is its object?
A. First, to promote the Peace of the World by agreeing not to resort to war. Second, to deal openly with each other, not by secret treaties. Third, to improve international law. Fourth, to co-operate in all matters of common concern.
3. Does it presume to end war?
A. No more than any government can end crime. It claims to reduce the liability of war.
4. What will be done to any nation that makes war?
A. It will be boycotted and otherwise penalized.
5. How else will the probability of war be lessened?
A. By voluntary, mutual and proportionate disarmament; by exchanging military information, by providing for arbitration, by protecting each nation's territorial integrity and by educating public opinion to see the folly of war.
6. What else does the League propose to do for Mankind?
A. (1) Secure fair treatment for labor;
(2) suppress the White Slave Traffic, the sale of dangerous drugs, and the traffic in War Munitions;
(3) control and prevent Disease;
(4) promote the work of the Red Cross; and
(5) establish International Bureaus for other Causes that concern the human race.

7. Who are to be Charter Members of the League?
A. The United States of America, Belgium, Bolivia, Brazil, British Empire, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand, India, China, Cuba, Czechoslovakia, Ecuador, France, Greece, Guatemala, Haiti, Honduras, Italy, Japan, Liberia, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru, Poland, Portugal, Rumania, Serbia, Siam, Uruguay and the following states which are invited to accede to the covenant: Argentina, Republic, Chile, Colombia, Denmark, Netherlands, Norway, Paraguay, Persia, Salvador, Spain, Sweden, Switzerland, Venezuela.
8. What other nations may join?
A. Any self-governing State which will agree to the rules of the League, provided the League accepts it.
9. What Agencies will the League have?
A. (1) An Assembly, composed of representatives of all the member Nations;
(2) a Council of Nine;
(3) a Secretary-General;
(4) a Mandatory Commission, to look after colonies, etc.;
(5) a Permanent Commission, for military questions;
(6) various International Bureaus; such as the Postal Union, etc.;
(7) Mandatories.

10. What is a Mandatory?
A. Some one nation designated by the League to attend to the welfare of "backward peoples residing in colonies of the Central Empires, or in territories taken from them." This is to be a "sacred trust," and in selecting a mandatory the wishes of the people of the area in question shall be the principal consideration.
11. Does the League mean a Super-nation?
A. No. It interferes in no way with any Nation's Sovereignty, except to limit its power to attack other nations.
12. Can any Nation withdraw when it wishes?
A. Yes. The League is Advisory and Co-operative, not coercive.
13. Does the League put Peace above Justice and National Honor?
A. No. It puts Reason before Violence.
14. Does not the League take away the Constitutional right of Congress to declare war?
A. No. The League can advise war; Congress alone can declare war.
15. Does it destroy the Monroe Doctrine?
A. Exactly the contrary. For the first time in history the other nations recognize the Monroe Doctrine; and extend it to all the world.
16. Does it not interfere with Treaty Making Powers of the United States?
A. No. It is a Treaty. We can make any Treaty we please.
17. Would we have had the Great War if we had had this League?
A. No. That War cost the world over 7,000,000 lives and 200,000,000,000 dollars.
18. Of what importance is the League?
A. It is the greatest deed of mankind in the history of the world.
19. Has not anyone a right to object to the League?
A. Yes. This is a free country. Any one has a right to any opinion he chooses.
20. Why is the League so bitterly opposed by a few?
A. Because, unfortunately, any Treaty or League must be made by the President, and a President is chosen by a political party and many members of the opposite Party think they must destroy whatever he does.

"GREATEST SHOW IN THE WORLD" HELPS UNCLE SAM SELL W. S. S.

Baby Midgets, Unbalanced Clowns, Pretty Girls and Other Mysteries of the Big Tent Help Boost War Savings Campaign

Circus Folk Aid Sale of W. S. S.

One of the latest agencies to offer its cooperation to Uncle Sam in his national campaign to teach the people of America thrift and the benefits derived from investing their savings in Thrift Stamps, War Savings Stamps, Treasury Savings Certificates and other government securities is the circus.

The picture above was taken when the "Greatest Show in the World" visited Boston a short time ago. At this booth two baby midgets, an elephant, two clowns and two pretty girls formed the main attraction and when one gets a mixture like this he has a receipt for what a circus performer would term a "humdumner."

Handreds of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps are sold at booths on the circus grounds.

Today, according to Mrs. Francis L. Higginson, director of savings for the First Federal Reserve District, the people of New England and the rest of the country are coming to realize the need and benefits of thrifty living and saving.

Such agencies as the circus, large industries, fraternal societies and other large associations and organizations are cooperating with the government to make a success of the national campaign to teach the people of the country thrift and to also aid pay the war debts incurred.

THRIFT AND W. S. S. POPULAR IN N. E.
Sales of Thrift Stamps and War Savings Stamps throughout the New England States for the month of July totals $462,827.38 Massachusetts

Jack's Adventures in Nodland

Little Jack was crying. He had been trying to hide his feelings all day long but now every attempt to smile brought tears to those big brown eyes and at last the gates of self control gave way entirely and the floods came. Jack couldn't tell exactly what the trouble was—the pain wasn't unbearable, but Mother was unhappy—indeed Mother was almost impatient and cross, and that was more than the little fellow could stand.

Jack A Cripple.
Jack was a most likeable lad, possessing big brown eyes, light curly hair and a wonderfully sunny smile beaming an even pleasant disposition, but alas, Jack was a cripple. Jack's mother brought Mother to him in haste, conscience smitten that she had let any worry, however great, cast its shadow on her dear one. Her arms were about him instantly and his instant, "Mother, Mother, what is it? I want to know—What have I done?" made her realize his right to know her trouble.

They had lost their home because the big man on the hill who owned all that land, had lost his money and the property was now in the hands of the creditors.

Now they had to move and no one would rent rooms or a house to them unless some money was paid in advance. They could move into the four rooms over the store across the lake if they had just thirty dollars but father had been borrowing to meet the expenses of the last two months and he didn't feel that he could ask any one for more.

Jack Falls Asleep.
That night Jack lay awake for some time—thinking, thinking, thinking, but finally fell into a troubled sleep. It was then that he heard a voice speaking right in his ear—"Why Jackie, you have forgotten something, come with me, my mistress bids me bring you."

PAPA'S POCKETBOOK TO BE PROTECTED

The old story of the rahl rahl boy, who goes to college—not to fill his cerebellum with knowledge but to help spend papa's income, is to undergo a revision, when the colleges of the country open their doors this fall.

Courses On Thrift.
This now era in the life of the college chap, with the extra coin of the realm, is to come as a result of activities on the part of the national thrift commission, which has been appointed to encourage and popularize habits of thrift and reasonable standards of spending among college and university students.

Efforts are to be made to encourage all students to keep personal accounts of their college expenditures as a practical measure of thrift. Already measures of this character have proven of practical and immediate effectiveness at Princeton University. No doubt many of the colleges will add a course on thrift to their curriculum.

leads in the amount of sales with a total of $251,611.84. Connecticut is next with $247,761.48. Closely behind Connecticut for total sales comes Rhode Island, $27,370.19; New Hampshire's sales total $33,976.02. Maine sold during the month of July a total of $31,003.96. Vermont succeeded in selling $16,769.49 during the month of July.

PUBLIC HIGHWAYS

AREA OF DETAILED MAPPING

Notwithstanding Interruptions by War, Larger Amount Was Covered in Year of 1918.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Notwithstanding a certain amount of interruption due to war conditions in the work of the soil survey carried on by the bureau of soils of the United States department of agriculture, a larger area of detailed mapping was done during the fiscal year 1918 than during the preceding year, the area covered amounting to 38,130 square miles.

Planetable Used In Soil Survey for Constructing Base Map.

Prior to 1918 a total of 445,825 square miles had been mapped, so that the total area covered by the detailed work of the survey at the close of June 30, 1918, was 483,955 square miles. That part of the United States lying within regions where the rainfall is sufficient for crop production or where water is available for irrigation covers approximately 1,750,000 square miles. The area mapped in detail during 1918 was equivalent to 2.2 per cent of this area, the total mapped in detail to date 27.6 per cent, and the total, both detailed and reconnaissance work, much of the latter area calling for no further work, amounted to 64.3 per cent of it.

TREES FOR ROAD PROTECTION

Active Steps Taken by New York Organizations for Development of Planting Scheme.

(By PROF. R. B. FAXON, State College of Forestry, Syracuse, N. Y.)
Believing that the problem of roadside planting should not be entirely set aside during the movement for a greater mileage of improved highways, active steps are now being taken by the New York State Motor Federation and the State College of Forestry at Syracuse for the development of a planting scheme for the section of the highway running from Syracuse to Utica, a distance of about 60 miles.

It has been demonstrated by those in charge of the work that aside from the purely ornamental value of trees along the highway, many practical benefits would result from their proper use. It is not generally realized that trees, by means of their shade during the summer months, prolong the life of the roadway for many years, and road experts in general are heartily in favor of this means for road protection.

IMPROVEMENT IN WISCONSIN

Ten Million Dollars to Be Spent on Developing Highways in Badger State in 1919.

Ten million dollars will be spent on developing, improving and patrolling the highways of Wisconsin during 1919.

This announcement was made by A. H. Hirst, state highway engineer, who explained that the increase, an amount almost double that spent in former years, was because $2,500,000 was left over from last year and also to furnish an opportunity for employment of returned soldiers and sailors.

"Approximately $7,000,000 will be spent in developing new roads, and about $3,000,000 will be used to patrol the state trunk highways. The money will come from federal, state and county sources.

The senate committee on highways is considering a bill to allow counties to institute trunk lines and to raise the present limit of 5,000 miles of federal aid roads in the state.

GOOD ROADS AID TO SCHOOLS

Higher Attendance of Children Shown by Government Survey After Improvement Made.

A survey made by the government of the effect of good road building on school attendance in eight counties shows that before the roads were improved the average school attendance was 69 pupils to each 100 enrolled, as compared with 76 after the roads were improved.
